

KIMBERLY WOODS

Biography

Kimberly Woods has more than 20 years of marketing, sales and business experience in Corporate America with companies including ATT, Scientific American, the Pearson Group, Campus Pipeline and Datamark. A good deal of her tenure has been spent working for publishing firms as well as technology companies supporting commercial business and higher education.

Her most recent experience was working with technical and trade colleges to generate student prospects. She has held many positions in sales, management and also served as International Director working on taking a US product to market in Europe.

Kimberly has a philanthropic heart and has been to Ethiopia four times with Ascend Alliance participating in and leading humanitarian expeditions. She presently serves on the Board of Directors for Water Alliance for Africa and is working with several colleagues to create a school in Ethiopia servicing orphans in the Rift Valley.

Her business experience has taken her throughout the United States and Europe with residences in Chicago, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, and London. Her experience has afforded her many opportunities to lead and train and she is pleased to be a part of the Trapper Woods International family of facilitators.
